

Waihi Workshop

The workshop was held at Waihi NZ in Apr. 2001, and was hosted by Kelsall Catamarans together with Luke and Sharon Winchcombe. They are building a custom design known as the 'Tonga 31' or KSS-TK-31. The weekend was a great success and the event will become a regular feature in Kelsall Catamarans' diary. The images below were taken during the 3 days.

The traditional workshop group photo after hull shaping.

Applying the inside skin to a hull panel on the first day.

Two hull panels with sheer line spread to deck width.

Inside the hull after shaping. Note rudimentary frames, ties, longitudinal grooves in the chine area and transverse dart cuts.

After shaping. Note the steel 'T-piece' along centre line.
